Nov. 13, 2009

【From the Editor】

The week we begin our series of articles introducing our new faculty members. Today Kai Xin, our student editor, tells us about Dr. Natalie Hsu, who specializes in psycholinguistics. In coming issues we will bring you more young faces.

Meanwhile, the excitement builds for “The Importance of Being Earnest.” Mark December 3 and 4 in your calendars and don’t miss it!

■ Alumni Experience Sharing on Nov. 20 , 2009, C310, 6:20-8pm

On the evening of 20 Nov., we'll invite some of our alumni to come back to share their working experiences with us. Their occupations vary from engineers to professors. There is no doubt that language is a powerful skill. As long as we know how to use it, we'll be able to create a bright future. Why not prepare some questions and join the talk to find out how our alumni managed to change their career paths and become experts in their respective fields? Don't miss this wonderful opportunity!

【Feature Article— Prof. Natalie Hsu, 許淳潔】

By Kai Xin

Professor Natalie Hsu (許淳潔) is one of our new faculty members. She earned MA and Ph.D. degrees in Linguistics from the University of Delaware in 2003 and 2006 respectively. Her specialization is psycholinguistics, with a focus on sentence-level comprehension and production in both adults and children. For the past two months, she has been teaching some of us. Professor Hsu said she is quite impressed by DFLL students' creativity and the eagerness to learn more; "I would like to help the students as much as I can," she said. Overall, she enjoys teaching here. The year 2009 is a brand new start for Professor Natalie: getting used to this hilly campus along the way to our lovely HSS building, and enjoying the convenient transportation of Hsin-Chu City. Right now she is curious about the windy weather and looking forward to experiencing the coming bitter cold winter. Well, good luck, professor!

主講人：兒童文學作家 子魚

時間：11/30(一) 19:30 in 風三國際學生活動中心

快樂王子的眼中盈滿淚水。
微風正起著他亮澄澄的面龐盪下來。
他的臉色在月光的映照下是如此美麗。
令小燕子油然而起悲憫之心。
「你是誰？」小燕子問。
「我是快樂王子。」
「你為什麼哭呢？」小燕子又問。
「你看，我的身體都被打滿了。」

快樂王子為什麼哭呢？
一起來發現《王爾德的童話世界》
